

Volunteers of all ages help the Council on Aging with a variety of tasks, from friendly visiting and telephone reassurance for individuals to help with group programs such as support for Alzheimer's disease caregivers or health screenings. They are also needed to help in Council offices, and to collate and mail the monthly Senior Calendar. The Library Connection, run by the Council on Aging and the Public Library, delivers library books and tapes to elders no longer able to get to the library and is also staffed by volunteers. Their dependable assistance is at the heart of our work. If you are interested in volunteer opportunities or if you would like help from a volunteer, please call the volunteer recruiter at 730-2743 or 730-2777.
